

TriggerTech Recalls Remington 700 Carbide Triggers

July 12, 2017

TriggerTech is recalling Remington 700 triggers with Carbide Rollers. Please review this document very carefully, to determine if your product is being recalled.

Trigger NOT being Recalled - External Identification

If any of the following criteria is met, the product does NOT contain a carbide roller and is NOT being recalled

- Trigger lever has a "Flat" shoe
- Trigger lever and safety lever is PVD Black color

- Safety lever is casted. The Casted safety has the TriggerTech logo on the safety grip.

- Is a Left-Handed trigger

Potential Trigger Recall - Check your Serial Number

If any of the following criteria is met, the product does NOT contain a carbide roller and is NOT being recalled

- "Primary" or "Special" is engraved on the housing
- The serial number and SKU number are laser engraved on the side of the trigger

- Housing has three screws securing the lid

TriggerTech Recalls Remington 700 Carbide Triggers

July 12, 2017

Trigger being Recalled - Identification by Dismantling your Firearm

If any of the following criteria is met, the product does contain a carbide roller and is being recalled

- Laser engraving on the safety side looks identical to the image shown - logo is offset and high on the trigger, the spacing between letters in "TriggerTech" is narrow.

Potential Trigger Recall - Check your Serial Number

Safety is stamped with 360 nub

If any the following criteria is met, the customer should check the serial number to determine if product is being recalled

- Safety Lever for a Right-Handed trigger is stamped with a 360-degree safety nub

- The housing has four screws securing the lid – see Figure 19

Determining your Serial Number

To determine your serial number, please refer to the attached instructions on dismantling the firearm and removing the trigger unit. The serial number is engraved on the side of the trigger.

The following serial numbers are being recalled:

2,088 - 2090, 6501 - 7500, 9226 - 9999, 10000, 12001 - 12003

BAR001 - BAR189, BBR001 - BBR005

TriggerTech Recalls AR15 Carbide Triggers

TriggerTech is recalling AR15 triggers with Carbide Rollers. Please review this document very carefully, to determine if your product is being recalled.

External Features

If any of the following criteria is met, the product does NOT contain a carbide roller and is NOT being recalled

- Trigger lever color is PVD Black Curved
- Trigger lever color is PVD Black Flat
- The serial number and SKU number are laser engraved on the side of the trigger

Potential Trigger Recall - Check your Serial Number

If all the following criteria is met, the customer should check the serial number to determine if product is being recalled

- Trigger lever is stainless color
- Trigger lever has a curved shoe or flat shoe
- The serial number is hand-etched on the bottom of the trigger

Determining your Serial Number

To determine your serial number, please refer to the attached instructions on dismantling the firearm and removing the trigger unit. The serial number is engraved on the bottom of the trigger.

The following serial numbers are being recalled:

ALC001 - ALC020, ALS001 - ALS017, BAFC001 - BAFC007,
BALC001 - BALC004, BAC001 - BAC092, BAS001 - BAS034,
BBLC001 - BBLC019, BBLS001 - BBLS003, BBC001 - BBC107,
BBS001 - BBS013, BCS001 - BCS002, BCLC001 - BCLC001,
BCC001 - BCC008

TriggerTech Recalls Killer Instinct Carbide Triggers

July 12, 2017

TriggerTech is recalling Killer Instinct triggers with Carbide Rollers. Please review this document very carefully, to determine if your product is being recalled.

Trigger being Recalled

Any trigger with a Red ADF, as shown in Figure 1 below, has a carbide roller and is being recalled.

Trigger not being Recalled

Any trigger where the ADF is silver and pivots at the front of the trigger, does NOT have a carbide roller and is NOT being recalled.

Determining your Serial Number

To determine your serial number, please refer to the attached instructions on dismantling the crossbow and removing the trigger unit. The serial number is engraved on the bottom of the trigger.

NOTE: Removing the scope or scope mount is NOT needed, to get access to the serial number.

The following serial numbers are being recalled:

2121 - 2160, 2202 - 2241, 2261 - 2321, 2326 - 2358,
2449 - 2499, 5224 - 5265, 5269 - 5270, 5290, 5301,
5307 - 5365, 5367 - 5561, 9131 - 9225
BCK001 - BCK032, BEK001 - BEK108

TriggerTech Recalls Excalibur Carbide Triggers

July 12, 2017

TriggerTech is recalling Excalibur triggers with Carbide Rollers. Please review this document very carefully, to determine if your product is being recalled.

Potential Trigger Recall - Check your Serial Number

There are no external distinguishing features that can be used to identify whether or not a carbide roller was utilized. The serial number must be referenced to determine if your trigger is being recalled.

Determining your Serial Number

To determine your serial number, please refer to the attached instructions on dismantling the crossbow and removing the trigger unit. The serial number is engraved on the bottom of the trigger.

NOTE: Removing the scope or scope mount is NOT needed, to get access to the serial number.

The following serial numbers are being recalled:

2448, 2500, 4113 - 4332, 4345 - 4448, 5077,
5088 - 5180

BAE001 - BAE095, BCE001 - BCE061, BDE001 - BDE029,
BFE001 - BFE020, BGE001 - BGE039

TriggerTech Recalls Mission Carbide Triggers

July 12, 2017

TriggerTech is recalling Mission triggers with Carbide Rollers. Please review this document very carefully, to determine if your product is being recalled.

Trigger being Recalled

Any trigger with a Red ADF, as shown in Figure 1 below, has a carbide roller and is being recalled.

Trigger not being Recalled

Any trigger where the ADF is silver and pivots at the front of the trigger, does NOT have a carbide roller and is NOT being recalled.

Determining your Serial Number

To determine your serial number, please refer to the attached instructions on dismantling the crossbow and removing the trigger unit. The serial number is engraved on the bottom of the trigger.

NOTE: Removing the scope or scope mount is NOT needed, to get access to the serial number.

The following serial numbers are being recalled:

2086 - 2087, 2091 - 2120, 2161 - 2201, 2242 - 2260, 2322 - 2325, 2425 - 2447, 5181 - 5222

TriggerTech Recalls Parker Carbide Triggers

July 12, 2017

TriggerTech is recalling Parker triggers with Carbide Rollers. Please review this document very carefully, to determine if your product is being recalled.

Trigger being Recalled

All Parker triggers that utilized carbide rollers are being recalled.

Determining your Serial Number

To determine your serial number, please refer to the attached instructions on dismantling the crossbow and removing the trigger unit. The serial number is engraved on the bottom of the trigger.

NOTE: Removing the scope or scope mount is NOT needed, to get access to the serial number.

The following serial numbers are being recalled:
2359-2424